

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reproducing apparatus comprises a reproducing unit that reproduces a plurality of information data
5 (media data which include movie data, still image data, and audio data), and management information, which contains duration information indicating reproduction durations of the information data, from a recording medium, and a control unit that controls a reproduction
10 operation of the information data by the reproducing unit on the basis of the duration information reproduced by the reproducing unit, and reproduction control information (a play list) indicating a reproduction sequence of the plurality of information 15 data.